

Job Title: Graduate Consultant

Location: Remote/Site Based

About Indicatura

Indicatura® is a specialised consultancy that delivers improved value to clients from planned investments in new and existing physical assets. We provide a full spectrum of consulting, assurance and optimisation services that delivers quantifiable and tangible outcomes and benefits to our clients by utilising proprietary tools, techniques and systems.

Our services and methodology can be applied in any industry and within any size of business. We work with businesses that constitute a global presence and have an impressive, blue chip client list.

We assure our clients not only of our services and commitment to enhancing their organisations value, but also of our promise to deliver impartial and accurate advice and a guarantee of a trusted, continuing and confidential partnership.

About the Role

The graduate will form an integral part of the Indicatura team which will be led by a more senior consultant to provide guidance and support.

The role of the graduate asset management consultant role will include, but will not be limited to:

- Gathering, understanding and analysing engineering and asset based environments and information
- Investigation into impacts and causes of inefficiencies and problems and developing solutions to address
- Evaluating various options and actions. Quantifying benefits of each, utilising financial, operational and engineering methodologies and metrics
- Utilising information and analysis undertaken into presentable and useful graphs, tables and slides
- Preparation of client outputs and reports, presenting findings to clients and recommending actions
- Forming relationships with clients to assist in moving the work forward

We are often also part of a larger client team which the graduate will also have direct and ongoing contact with. Projects vary in nature, scope and objectives but the central task is delivering advice to clients in order for them to extract maximum value from proposed capital equipment spend and existing assets. The specific scope of work and tasks undertaken by the team and the graduate will vary with the specific assignment. As the graduate gains experience, we would anticipate them taking greater responsibility in the tasks they undertake.

We are committed to training and development as an integral part of working with us. You will also have an opportunity to be involved in wider business development activities.
