Job Title: Senior Consultant
Location: Remote/Site Based

About Indicatura

Indicatura® is a specialised consultancy that delivers improved value to clients from planned investments in new and existing physical assets. We provide a full spectrum of consulting, assurance and optimisation services that delivers quantifiable and tangible outcomes and benefits to our clients by utilising proprietary tools, techniques and systems.

Our services and methodology can be applied in any industry and within any size of business. We work with businesses that constitute a global presence and have an impressive, blue chip client list.

We assure our clients not only of our services and commitment to enhancing their organisations value, but also of our promise to deliver impartial and accurate advice and a guarantee of a trusted, continuing and confidential partnership.

About the Role

We are currently seeking proactive Senior Asset Management Consultant to join our dynamic and fast paced team. You will be an experienced Asset Management practitioner with the personal qualities to become the principal Indicatura contact for one of our key clients, to manage the overall relationship, lead/join ongoing projects, become an integral part of the client's wider team and support business development.

The day to day activities of the Senior Asset Management Consultant include, but are not limited to:

- Development and implementation of Asset Management Framework and associated systems
- Leading projects capturing and analysing engineering and asset-based information, developing asset management plans and investigating the root causes of inefficiencies and problems
- Developing suitable, feasible and acceptable information base, analysis, recommendations and solutions
- Leading the production of presentable client outputs (graphs, tables, slides, written reports) which underpin our advice and benefit client outcomes
- Running and facilitating workshops and meetings with a range of audience engagement
- Assistance in development of client's target operating models
- Forming relationships with clients to assist in moving work and business development forward.

All of the above tasks may be performed within a team or as an individual but always with the support and guidance of a Director or Principal Consultant. Senior Asset Management Consultants would typically form an integral part of the delivery team and have responsibility for specific aspects of the scope of work being undertaken.

We are committed to training and development as an integral part of working with us. You will also have an opportunity to be involved in wider business development activities.
